

Please do not allow this. It is annoying and intrusive and has no upside for the public, only those creating the service and network.

As an airline employee I can foresee a potential at best argumentst among passengers and at worst actual violence. What can be so important that can't wait? After all, it has for all of these years to date.